- Upon departure every guest is given as farewell gift a tin of our exclusive and award-winning olive oil 'Il Mulino della Signora' – also used at our Restaurant and produced in very limited quantities by Prof. Gianfranco Testa in his lands in Frigerio (not far from Avellino), a popular Italian urologist with a passion for oil making.

A Story Of Love

FOUNDER / OWNERS

The Founder of Casa Angelina is an entrepreneur from Sorrento, Mr Antonino Cappiello. He is a very forward-looking person and very well-travelled man. Casa Angelina is the achievement of a dream he had since as a young boy he started to work in Sorrento (his hometown) as well as abroad, in the hotel industry as bellboy, waiter and then moving up. When at a certain point of his life he made his fortune with his toy and gadget retail business (this happened when he started to distribute in Italy 'Diddl-Mouse' products – Diddl is a cartoon character, a white 'Jumping Mouse', manufactured by German company Depesche), he had the opportunity to buy this property which at that time was a large 'Pensione' – the Italian for a Bed and Breakfast. He called it after his loved mother 'Angelina' who had passed away a few years before and on purpose he wanted it to name it 'CASA', the Italian for 'Home' instead of using the term Hotel. His dream was in fact to bring to the Amalfi Coast a new concept of luxury hospitality, far from the stereotyped traditional, baroque, and opulent style so diffused here in Italy and our region. He envisioned a 'contemporary home' with barefoot luxury, where he could concentrate his traveling experiences, his passion for contemporary art and make guests feel like being at a 'millionaire friend's home on the Amalfi Coast'. His passion for simplicity and elegance is reflected in the design of the hotel and his motivation in pursuing perfection to try and offer the guest the best experience ever, is at the basis of our hotel philosophy.

In August 2015, Mr Cappiello sold 55% of his shares to his lifetime friend and business partner from Germany, Mr Kjeld Schioetz and his lovely Wife Dine Marie who share a deep love for Casa Angelina. Today it continues to be a huge success story culminating in Casa Angelina achieving its well-deserved dream of becoming a Leading Hotels of the World Member in April 2022.

Architecture & Design

Understated chic and 'barefoot luxury' concept as opposed to the more opulent and traditional other 5- star properties in the region.

The entire renovation of the building took place with the idea to try and frame the breath-taking views and let the outside to inside. This is the reason why the architect opted for large windows as well as floor-to-ceiling windows used almost as a 'frame' to the wonderful surroundings.

The choice for straight lines and square corners had the aim to trace a simple but at the same time distinctive and elegant environment.

Considering that the Amalfi Coast is under UNESCO heritage, it was not possible to make major alterations to the outside part of the building which has kept its original configuration from the 1970's architecture.

White-on-white color scheme interspersed by whimsical artwork from Cuban artist Alfredo Sosabravo made in Murano glass as well as other contemporary pieces of art in display from the owner's private collection make of Casa Angelina almost an 'living' art gallery.
